Narrative update:

As always, this month has been keeping us busy as the semester well and truly gets underway. With Census Date now behind us, units are locked in, assignments are piling up, and mid-semester break is so close and yet so far.

As General Secretary, my focus this month has been maintaining internal coordination across State Council and supporting governance processes as the team settles into the rhythm of Semester 1. This has included ongoing Weekly WIP meetings, one-on-ones with Presidents, and supporting communication and alignment as priorities continue to take shape.

March also saw a strong focus on continued training and development, with State Council Campaign Training sessions, TCCL workshops, and our upcoming “retreat” providing valuable opportunities to build skills, reflect as a team, and strengthen how we work together.

Additionally, I've been supporting Equity Committee recruitment. With shiny and new Position Descriptions, applications are now open and promotion is underway across the student community – an exciting step to grow and strengthen student representation!

I've also had the amazing opportunity to contribute to governance processes through TUSA's Governance Committee and broader student representation discussions. Events such as the Student Life Expo provided a great opportunity to connect with students and welcome a couple of our National Union of Students (NUS) executives to our beautiful state.

Overall, March has been about building consistency, strengthening teamwork, and keeping momentum as the semester ramps up. As we head toward mid-semester break, the focus remains on supporting students through this busy period while keeping State Council's Kahoot skills up to date.

As always, if you have any questions, ideas, or need support, please don't hesitate to get in touch.
