Narrative update:

Throughout March, I focused on continuing to advocate for students while strengthening engagement and improving key processes that support the student experience.

I followed up with Hobart City Council regarding student parking rates, continuing to push for more accessible and affordable options for students navigating parking in Hobart. Alongside this, I worked on improving how we gather and use student feedback by implementing QR codes for Vent Tents and following up to ensure better access to both current and past response data.

I met with Nicholas Farrelly to share updates, receive feedback, and establish regular monthly check-ins moving forward.

Engaging directly with students remained a priority, including participating in the residential community induction and finalising Vent Tent timings and processes to ensure these activations run smoothly and effectively.

Overall, March was a productive month of steady progress, focused on practical improvements, stronger communication, and continued advocacy for student needs.
