Narrative update:

It has been an exciting past month with several meetings and on-campus events. On the Cradle Coast, I have been working alongside UTAS committees to review and discuss how we can better make the campus one where students belong and feel connected. There have also been discussions on developments to ensure all students have access to safe and affordable housing. Throughout this month, there has also been a number of events running on campus such as SHAG Week pop-up events, Cradle Coast Market Day, and vent tents. We hope to continue to see students attending and engaging in these events – I have loved sharing these events with you and Robyn!

Please let me know if you would like to share any concerns or suggestions, either in passing on campus, or through cradlecoast.president@tusa.utas.edu.au
